Failure To Elect His Successor Leaves State
With But One United States Senator.

BOTH HOUSES GET DOWN TO WORK

Assembly Has Killed Over Five Hundred Bills Already
This Season---Senate Behind In Its Labors
Thus Far.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 30.—The state of Wisconsin is now represented by Robert M. La Follette as its only United States senator, the resignation of Senator John C. Spooner taking effect at the close of this day and the legislature having failed to name a successor. The republicans are hopelessly deadlocked and seem to have gotten over their impatience which was apparent a week ago. They do not seem to care if they never name a senator, having settled down to voting as they did last week without changes except for some few members to cast complimentary votes for some friends.

It has been thought that the pending election of a United States senator would greatly delay business, and perhaps that is so, but it was not to be suspected last night, when the chief clerks reported on the condition of business. The assembly is farther along than the senate having disposed of more than half of the bills introduced and having killed more than five hundred. The senate has not done so well, but has much less work to accomplish. While many measures remain to be disposed of, a good many of them have been the subjects of hearings and await merely perfecting of details before being reported out.

Assemblyman L. H. Bancroft of Richland Center last night jumped in to the quintette of candidates and by getting eight votes in the republican caucus became apparently an important element in the canvass, while some other candidates were overlooked.

It is believed, however, that he will not continue to hold this strength. A report has been circulated to the effect that the Esch people will soon break and that Isaac Stephenson of Marinette will be the nominee. There were no changes of any consequence or significance as the result of the daily joint convention ball on senator today.

The senate adopted a resolution proposing to change the constitution to allow more than one judge in each judicial circuit, the plan being to divide the state into five circuits instead of 18 as at present, and have several judges in each circuit.

The advocates of a change declare it will raise the standard of the judiciary and expedite litigation and eliminate the large costs to counties in criminal cases arising now out of changes of venue.

The assembly adopted a resolution proposing a national constitutional convention for the purpose of securing the popular election of United States senators. The vote was 47 to 40.

The assembly killed the bill to require 25 per cent of the party vote at a primary election in order to make a party nomination. The vote stood 52 to 31; the democrats opposing solidly, claiming it meant disorganization of their party.

The socialist's proposal for the popular election of federal judges was killed after an opposing speech by Assemblyman Norcross and a speech in favor of it by the negro member, Palmer. A hot fight was held on the child labor bill, ending in a referendum to the committee.

FIRST PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE FOR '08

United Christian Party Will Hold National Convention at Davenport, Iowa, Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Davenport, Ia., April 30.—Quietly and without bands or banners the first candidate to make the race for president of the United States in 1908 will be nominated here tomorrow. It is the date set for the national convention of the United Christian party. William R. Benkert of this city, chairman of the national executive committee, expects delegates to be on hand from a number of states. They will meet at the watch tower, a pleasure resort near Rock Island. So far there has been little or no discussion as to candidates, the selection being left entirely to the convention. The United Christian party was founded twelve years ago and has had presidential tickets in the field in the last two presidential elections. The party advocates government according to the golden rule. At one time it urged the removal of the national capital from Washington to the government island in the Mississippi river opposite Davenport, on which the Rock Island arsenal is situated.

NAVAL POWERS WATCHING SUBMARINE BOAT TESTS

United States Conducting Contests At Narragansett Bay--Winning Vessel Will Be Adopted.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newport, R. I., April 30.—The naval powers of the entire world will await with keen interest the results of the contest between submarine boats which began in Narragansett Bay today under the direction of the navy department of the United States. The boat that shows up best in the eyes of the naval experts will be adopted for the United States navy and it is not improbable that the whole world will follow suit.

Two types of boats have entered the contest. One of these, the Lake, represents the inventor whose name it bears. The other, the Octopus, is of the Holland type. Both boats have been here for some time tuning up for the official trials. It is claimed for the Lake that she has made 3 1/2 knots an hour running awash. The Holland company claims an equal speed for their boat, the Octopus. The selection of the boat, however, is not to depend upon speed alone. Durability, habitability and deep diving will all enter into the summing up by the judges of the merits of the boats.

The navy board appointed to supervise the tests consists of Captain Adolph Marx, president; Naval Constructor D. W. Taylor, Commander Burns T. Walling, Lieutenant Commander William S. Smith, Lieutenant John W. Timmons and Design F. E. Sadler, recorder.

Every precaution has been taken by the navy department to insure fairness in the trials and to bring out the merits of the respective boats. The rules laid down by the trial board and approved by the secretary of the navy provide for turning trials to prove the maneuvering powers of the boats for torpedo firing while submerged and under motion, for mining and counter-mining, as well as tests of endurance and habitability. In order to test the last named quality the boats, each taking a complement of men, will be sunk, side by side, at the torpedo station dock here for twenty-four hours as a test of the comfort of the little craft when necessary. Severe as this test may seem to the laymen, neither officers, men or owners seem to dread it in the least.

The speed trials will be over a measured course of one mile, under three conditions—light or cruising condition, with all ballast tanks empty; awash, with part of the conning tower showing and ready for instant diving; and submerged, with the top of the conning tower not less than ten feet from the surface. For each speed trial, unless special circumstances render it inexpedient, three runs will be made over the course at a maximum speed, and four or five runs made back and forth at progressively reduced speeds, as determined by the trial board.

The submarines, carrying a complement of torpedoes, will make submerged runs and discharge in the shortest time possible all torpedoes at a target. The first torpedo will be discharged at 2500 yards. Each boat will be examined as to strength, material and workmanship. As a further test of strength, each boat will be submerged to a depth not greater than the owners may desire, but no boat will be accepted as filling all the requirements unless it shall withstand without damage a running submergence of 200 feet.

The board has decided that the tests shall be comparative, as it would be impracticable to have simultaneous competitive tests. It is expected that the trials will last ten days or two weeks.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 30.—The men who are alleged to have held up a dozen south side citizens during the last three weeks are in the hands of the police after an exciting chase today. They are all boys and one of them, Frank Junick, has confessed that he jumped into the river after being chased by Chas. Nauretz, whom he held up. Junick says he swam a short distance, but the water was too cold and he drew himself up to a bridge. The police followed him and raised one section of the bridge to get him, then he jumped over to the other side and clung and when that side was pulled up, he leaped back and stood under the bridge for over an hour until the police gave up the chase. He then made his escape in the dark and has been in Chicago for some time. He was arrested upon coming back here today. There are four boys in the gang, which was arrested today.

SPECULATION AND GAMBLING.

Wall street is regarded by many people as the great stock gambling center of the country, and the fact is not always recognized that it is also one of the greatest money markets of the world.

The New York board of trade is composed of a class of financiers noted for honesty, as well as great business ability. They represent bankers and manufacturers whose names stand for stability and integrity. They may be large speculators, but they are not gamblers.

The men who invest their money in railroads and great industrial enterprises may take more than ordinary chances on the outcome, but they are not betting on games of chance or the turn of the wheel. They invest with their money, time and ability to work out a successful issue.

The Wall street gamblers, and there are thousands of them, are scattered over the country from Maine to California. They deal in all kinds of stocks on a small margin, usually ten per cent.

When they buy a block of stock for $10,000, they put up $1,000 and run in debt for the other $9,000. If the stock goes down a few points the margin is wiped out and they lose. If it goes up they win—they are simply betting on which way it will go. If a business man should attempt to do business on the same basis of liability he would fall, nine times out of ten.

Gambling is purely a game of chance, whether with cards or stocks, while speculation is legitimate, because back of the investment is personal effort and well-directed energy.

The great trunk lines which stretch across the continent are the result of stupendous speculation. They were built in advance of the demand because of the sublime faith possessed by the investors, many of whom died before their hopes were realized.

Like all large enterprises, they were not developed on a ten per cent margin, and left to chance. Speculation, when conducted with good judgment is both legitimate and helpful, while gambling is always demoralizing.

CONDITIONS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The following dispatch from San Francisco tells the story and explains the conditions which exist to the detriment of the city.

"The approach of May 1 finds San Francisco facing serious labor troubles. Eleven unions, including every branch of the metal trades, have called meetings to be held between now and next Tuesday night to consider the refusal of employers to grant an eight-hour day with nine hours' pay. A vote will be taken to decide whether the men shall accept the offer of a continuance of the nine-hour day with a five per cent increase of wages or go on strike. About 10,000 men are involved.

The street car men have issued a call for a mass meeting at midnight Tuesday for the purpose of taking a vote on the refusal of the united railroads to grant the motormen and conductors an eight-hour day and a wage rate of $3 per day. If a strike should be voted the entire street car traffic of the city will be paralyzed.

The strike of steam laundry workers, which went into effect in this city and Oakland one month ago, is still on with no immediate prospect of settlement."

It is not at all surprising that the new San Francisco is so slowly developing. A year ago the city was in ruins as the result of a double calamity. At the time of the catastrophe the city was in the hands of desperadoes who were looting the people with ruthless hand.

The mayor, a poverty-stricken musician, became the tool of a corrupt judiciary, and amassed a fortune. Today he is under indictment and ready to turn states evidence against his associates in crime.

While the city is likely to win out, it is still in the hands of labor organizations, whose demands are so exorbitant that the work of reclamation is badly retarded.

The demand for labor is so great that all sorts of abuses are tolerated, and these conditions will continue until the retrenchment now planned, turns loose surplus labor to find employment on the western coast. This will happen before the year closes and the labor market in San Francisco will be relieved.

THE GREAT MAJORITY.

There are 85,720,000 people living in the United States, says the Wall Street Journal.

Of these there are, perhaps, 5,000,000 criminal or vicious, or "submerged" persons at the bottom who are more or less dangerous to the social order.

There are also at the top, perhaps

5,000 criminal, vicious, law-defying, rich, who are dangerous to public liberty and order.

This leaves 80,715,000 persons between these two classes, and upon these the safety of the republic rests. Recent events have demonstrated that in the main, the hearts and minds of these are right and sane, and that while uncompromising in their hostility to both the criminal rich and the criminal poor, they may be depended upon for a wholesome conservatism that will protect the fundamental principles of individual liberty and the rights of property.

This ought to be considered a safe majority and it is. While public sentiment is more or less influenced by agitation, and the pendulum frequently swings to the extreme, yet it seldom fails to find a wholesome level. The people of the United States have thus far developed ability to govern themselves, and in the crisis of agitation now pending, it is safe to say that in the end there will be but little cause for complaint.

Keep at it! There's never a time in the history of a business man when he can afford to stop advertising. Spasmodic effort is useless and money waster. The Royal Baking Powder company is spending a million a year to repeat the same old story, that the "Royal" is "absolutely pure." This one phrase has been kept before the people so long and so persistently that it has become a household word.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT

Tuesday Evening, April 30

The entertainment to be given at the Y. M. C. A. hall next Tuesday evening promises to be a rare treat for the people of Janesville. Mrs. Lemmon comes to our city with the best testimonials.

The Saturday Evening Review, Indianapolis, says: "The most difficult recitation of the evening was 'The Searching for the Slain' by Mrs. Emma D. Lemmon. It was full of dramatic situations which test the reader's ability to portray the subject. The reader showed that she thoroughly understood the delicate nature of her task and was equal to all its emergencies."

The Cleveland Leader says: In connection with Remenyi Emma D. Lemmon, a beautiful elocutionist, has great talent. Her acting is natural and graceful and her voice good. In "Searching the Slain" she showed pathos and histrionic ability of high order, and in "Wilder Green" proved clearly her claim to versatility.

ASSESSORS ARE AT COURT HOUSE TODAY

City and County Officers Are Confering with Supervisor of Assessments Starr.

Some thirty-five of the assessors of the cities and town of the county are assembled at the courthouse today for their annual conference with Supervisor of Assessments Frank P. Starr, preparatory to commencing the work of compiling the rolls. This afternoon Supervisor L. E. Gettle addressed the gathering, laying special emphasis on the duties of assessors to discover personal property. "Real estate," he thought, was now assessed fairly well, but it was a well known fact that many are escaping their just burden of personal property tax, and these are invariably the ones most able to pay. How to remedy this inequality is the greatest problem of present day taxation. According to law this personal property is assessed to the party who owns it on the first of May each year, regardless of whether he has already disposed of it when the assessor gets to him. The speaker thought that this should be enforced to the letter.

HOME COMING MAY BE DECLARED OFF

Clinton People Will Decide the Matter at Mass-Meeting on Thursday Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Clinton, April 30.—What promises to be a bitter, struggle to the end between the "wets" and the "drys" relative to the home-coming will culminate on Thursday evening when the question of holding of the Home Coming is to be definitely decided upon. The change in dates, made according to the "wets" to prevent the incoming saloons from being in existence during its progress. This the advocates of the earlier dates, state is wrong and that the idea in changing the dates was so as not to conflict with Fourth of July celebrations when old residents might wish to be somewhere else. Last night the Home-Coming Committee held a meeting and decided to leave the matter entirely to a mass-meeting of citizens, to be held Thursday evening. Present indications are that the plan will be dropped owing to the fact the committee and citizens generally are divided on the question.

G. A. R. MEN AFTER VALIANT VETERAN

Want Ex-City Marshal of Clinton Prosecuted for Wearing Button Contrary to Law.

Members of the Clinton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, have complained to District Attorney John L. Fisher that Clinton's ex-Village Marshal Dan Shimeall, is wearing the bronze button of the order in violation of the Wisconsin statute. It is alleged that Shimeall, who saw four years of active service during the civil war, was twice wounded, once in the battle of Gettysburg and is drawing a pension, is not a member of the G. A. R. in good standing. When he removed from Clinton a few years ago he secured a demit and on returning two years later was not reinstated, there being a misunderstanding regarding back dues. When You Take Cold

One way is to pay no attention to it; at least, not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway. We have no patent medicine. We are the formulators of our preparations. Lowell, Mass.

MILTON DEFEATED IN OPENING GAME

Lost to Sacred Heart by Score of Two to One—Bunching of Errors Responsible.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, Wis., April 30.—Milton college lost the first game of the season to Sacred Heart college of Watertown Thursday afternoon by a score of two to one. It was an interesting game from the beginning. Sacred Heart started scoring in the third inning when the first man up was passed to first on being hit by a pitched ball.

An unlucky bunching of errors on the part of Milton assisted this man and a succeeding batter to make the rounds of the bases. The college then got into form and played good ball and the game ended with the score 2 and 1.

Place for Milton struck out 12 men and St. John of Sacred Heart 6. Errors: Milton, 3; Sacred Heart, 1. Hits: Milton, 4; Sacred Heart, 3. A little more strength at the bat would have helped Milton out of several tight places, but the best batters seemed to be out of form. The home team derives some satisfaction from the fact that Sacred Heart beat Beloit one to nothing the following Saturday.

Albion, 2; Milton, 1.

The high school baseball team played its opening game this season Friday afternoon with Albion Academy. Both teams played good ball. The Milton team excelled in the field, but were weak at the bat. The game was exciting from start to finish. Though Albion won by a score of two to one, she was not sure of victory until the last man was out.

THE 10th WISCONSIN REGIMENT

It has often been wondered why the sick list of the 10th Wisconsin Infantry was so small, after facing the hardships and disease of the South during the Civil War, but the men of Company "C" knew the reason; they had been using a natural blood purifier known as prepared by their comrade, A. L. GRANGER, from roots and herbs. That same remedy that kept an entire regiment alive and well, is still being manufactured under the direction of its originator, and has proven to be the best blood purifier on the market.

TAFT TELLS ABOUT THE PANAMA CANAL

EXPECTS IT TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN EIGHT YEARS.

ADDRESS AT CINCINNATI

Great Banquet Given by the Business
Men's Club, Winds Up the Secretary's
Ohio Visit.

Cincinnati, April 30.—"If the Panama canal is not completed within eight years from now, I shall be greatly disappointed. If it is completed in less time than that I shall not be greatly surprised."

This statement, made Monday night by Secretary of War Taft before the Business Men's club of this city, brought forth uproarious cheers, the 500 members of the club who were gathered inside the banquet hall rising to their feet and cheering the statement and the speaker with tremendous enthusiasm.

The banquet tendered to the secretary by the Business Men's club came as the climax to the last of the three days of the present western trip. The hall was packed to its utmost limit, and more than 400 applications for tickets of admission to the banquet were declined, because there was no more room inside the hall.

His Last Day a Busy One.

The last official day of the secretary's western trip was like the two days which had preceded—full of work for him and crowded with receptions that were flattering to him both as an official and as a man.

In the morning he delivered an address to the students of the law school of Cincinnati university, where he still holds his position as dean of the law school. Later he appeared on the floor of the chamber of commerce, where, in response to the enthusiastic greeting of the members, he made a brief address.

Early in the afternoon he held an extended conference on the condition of Ohio politics with N. C. Wright, of Cleveland, who outlined to him the exact position of the majority of the leading Republicans in the northern part of the state. The remainder of the day, prior to the banquet, was given over to impromptu receptions to his friends.

Talks of Panama Canal.

The banquet of the evening was one of the most pretentious affairs of the kind ever seen in this city and was most successful in every way. Mr. Taft announced at the commencement of his address that he would speak on "The Panama Canal" and particularly upon the improvements that had been made and the strides toward the completion of the work that had been accomplished since the occasion of his visit to the isthmus preceding the one just completed.

"It is only by a comparison of the conditions existing at the time of these visits," said the secretary, "that I am able to give an adequate idea of the work that has been accomplished and of the present condition of work. I would like, in passing, to pay a tribute of justice to the French people, for what they did down there has never been properly appreciated by the American people. The great danger of any work of this character under the auspices of the American people is that the work of construction will be undertaken before the work of preparation is completed. I do not think that the preparatory work of the last two years has been productive of anything but the most beneficial results."

He then told of the progress of the canal work, and paid a high compliment to Chief Engineer Stevens.

As to Cuban Conditions.

Coming to Cuba, he estimated that it would require all the time until a year from next September for again allowing the Cubans to show whether they can carry on a stable government. It will be then necessary to give them time before we can learn whether the conditions are complied with. The island is prosperous and can be made the garden spot of the world.

"We are under obligations," said the speaker, "entered into before the Spanish war, to give the people an independent government and we have no right to take it away from them till they show that they cannot keep a government firm. All talk of annexation and a protectorate utterly ignores the fact that we would have war for years under such conditions. It is vastly better and the only honorable course to give them a fair trial to maintain a stable government, which for a time they seemed unable to do."
